International speaker: Prof Gilles-Maurice de Schryver, BantUGent (the UGent Centre for Bantu Studies), Ghent University, Belgium.

Topic: Afrilex at 30

Short Biography

Gilles-Maurice de Schryver is a research professor of African linguistics at BantUGent (the UGent Centre for Bantu Studies), as well as a computational linguist at LT3 (the Language and Translation Technology Team), both at Ghent University, in Belgium. He is also an extraordinary professor in the Department of African Languages at the University of Pretoria, a job title he formerly held at the University of the Western Cape (2006 – 2012), both in South Africa. In 2002 he co-founded TshwaneDJe HLT to develop lexicographic software. He has a long-standing affiliation with Afrilex, having served two terms as the President of Afrilex (2009 - 2013), and prior to that serving in other capacities on the Executive board of Afrilex. He is the author or co-author of close to 400 books, book chapters, journal articles and conference papers, mainly on Bantu corpus linguistics and lexicography in general. His publications also include award-winning dictionaries for Northern Sotho, Zulu and Xhosa, published with Oxford University Press.

Africa speaker: Prof Langa Khumalo, South African Center for Digital Language Resources (SADiLaR), North-West University, South Africa

Topic: On AI and the future of African lexicography

Short Biography
